WAR CAMP COMMUNITY ACTIVITIES—NOTES OF WORK IN PROGRESS

A regular meeting of the executive committee was held last evening in the office of the secretary, at the Enlisted Men's Club. One of the chief matters discussed was that of securing floor space for sleeping quarters for the men on Saturday night. Some new arrangement must be made, because of the fact that the armory is no longer available for that purpose. Chaplain Hammett, of the 5th Regiment, Enginers, was present as the military representative at Camp Humphreys. The chaplain gave a talk expressing the appreciation of both men and officers, for the hospitality being accorded them by the people of Alexandria.

There will be a dancing party this evening at the Enlisted Men's Club, by the men of one of the quartermaster companies of Camp Humphreys. Several electric fans have been installed by the War Camp Community Service, which will doubtless make dancing more comfortable than heretofore.

A request has been made to the Alexandria War Camp Community Service for phonograph records, by the members of the military police. They have a phonograph at their quarters, over the Burke & Herbert Bank, and are very desirous of having the use of some records. There are doubtless many homes in Alexandria containing records that are seldom, if ever, used. Here is an opportunity to put them to very good use. Persons wishing to loan records should label them with their name and address. Records can be left either in the office of the Eplisted Men's Club, in the Elks building, or may be taken direct to the headquarters of the military ploice.

Judge J. B. T. Thornton, for the past ten years judge of the circuit courts for the sixteenth judicial circuit, has tendered his resignation as such to Governor Westmoreland Davis.

The announcement that Judge Thornton had tendered his resignation was received with general regret by the members of the bar association throughout the district, he being one of the most popular and well liked judges in this section.

This circuit embraces the courts for Alexandria city, Alexandria county, Fairfax county and Prince William county.

Judge Thornton succeeded Judge Charles E. Nicol on the bench the latter having resigned. Judge Thornton lives at Manassas, Prince William county, Va.

MURDER IN THE COUNTY

Boys' Quarrel Results in George Cox, 16 Years Old, Being Shot by Chum, Le Roy Dougal, 19 Years Old—Took Place in Clarendon.

A 16-year-old Virginia boy is dead and his school chum, a youth of 19 years, is in jail at Rosslyn, Alexandria county, charged with murder, as the result of a boys' quarrel late Monday night at the junction of the Washington and Rosslyn car lines, in Clarendon.

LeRoy Dougal, 19 years old, who lived in Clarendon within a stone's throw of where his chum, George Cox, lived, is in the Alexandria county jail awaiting trial on a charge of murder.

Harvey Cox, father of the boy who was killed, declared that he will exert every power to have the school chum of his son tried for first-degree murder.

Sifting the evidence, the authorities yesterday believed Cox was killed when he clashed with Dougal after a quarrel that involved Dougal's younger brother, a boy of 15 years.

The younger brother was in a group of boys who alighted from a Clarendon car late Monday night. Somebody jerked a cap from Dougal's head, causing the latter to exclaim:

"Some of you will pay for this."

Fifteen minutes later young Dougal returned to the spot where the boys had collected. Accompanying him was LeRoy Dougal, his brother. A quarrel ensued, according to the statement of eye-witnesses.

George Cox is said to have jumped from the fence as the result of an interchange of uncomplimentary remarks between Dougal and himself. A shot rang out. Cox fell to the ground, mortally wounded.

Dougal gave himself up, the authorities taking him to the Rosslyn jail. Cox was rushed to Emergency Hospital in Washington, but treatment proved of no avail. He died several hours later.

"I guess I'm shot," he cried, according to eye-witnesses of the shooting, as he released his hold upon Dougal and fell.

Despite his youth, Cox made the trip to the Mexican border with the District National Guardsmen. Upon the return of the guard to the District he was honorably discharged because of his youth.

Dougal will be arraigned Thursday morning at the Alexandria county courthouse. His family have retained Crandal Mackey, former prosecuting attorney for Alexandria county, as their attorney. The case for the commonwealth will be handled by Attorney Frank Ball.

Borland is Defeated.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 7.—Congressman William P. Borland, author of legislation which attempted to force longer working hours on Federal employes without additional compensation, was defeated in the Democratic primary here for the renomination by a heavy majority.

Will T. Bland, his opponent, received a majority of between 3,500 and 3,600 votes. Borland's eight-hour legislation was the principal issue of the race and the chief factor of his defeat. There are yet about forty county precincts to be heard from, but they will not alter the final result.

REPRESENTATIVE CHARLES C. CARLIN

Estimated Majority in District is in Excess of 2,600—Vote in Alexandria Proves Disappointment to White Supporters—Carlin Gets 1,172 Here and White 251, Giving Carlin Majority of 913 in the City—County and City Combined Give Carlin 1,199 Majority.

Representative Charles C. Carlin, this city, proved an easy winner in the Democratic primary yesterday for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the House of Representatives from the Eighth Congressional district, carrying every county comprising this district with the exception of Loudoun, the latter being the home county of E. B. White, one of his opponents. The vote received by the third man in the race, H. Earlton Hanes, Herndon, Fairfax county, was very small.

Complete returns received by Representative Charles C. Carlin on the result of the primary in the different counties comprising this district up to 2 o'clock this afternoon showed his majority in the district to be in round figures slightly in excess of 2,600 votes.

Apart from the vote polled in this city and Alexandria county the vote in other counties, that is Carlin's majorities are as follows:

White carried Loudoun by 457 majority.

In Alexandria city the vote was: Carlin, 1,172; White, 251; Hanes, 8, a majority of 913 in the city for Carlin.

In Alexandria county the vote was Carlin, 496; White, 184; Hanes, 26. Total in Alexandria city and county: Carlin, 1,668; White, 435; Hanes, 34.

Carlin's majority in city and county over his two opponents was 1,199.

Total vote cast in the city was less than 1,500.

The vote by wards in the city follows:

First — Carlin, 249; White, 76; Hanes, 1.

Second—Carlin, 258; White, 63; Hanes, 1.

Third—Carlin, 298; White, 58; Hanes, 3.

Fourth—Carlin, 367; White, 54; Hanes, 3.

Vote by districts in Alexandria county was as follows: Jefferson-Carlin, 108; White, 65; Hanes, 4.

Arlington—Carlin, 268; White, 53; Hanes, 16.

Washington—Carlin, 120; White, 66; Hanes, 6.

In Loudoun county, the home county of Candidate White, the latter carried it by a majority of 457.

In Fairfax county among the districts vote follows:

Mt. Vernon district—Pulman's, Carlin, 21; White, 4; Accotink, Carlin, 31; White, 4.

Lee district—Burke, Carlin, 38; White, 10.

The White supporters here were doomed to disappointment when the vote was announced. Practically all of his supporters confidently believed that their candidate would receive 300 or more votes in Alexandria. Many of them backed up their belief by making bets, some in large amounts. As a result today many Carlin supporters are considerably better off financially than they were previous to the counting of the votes. Many other bets also were made and the Carlin folks today are enjoying the result of the election.

The election throughout was quiet and orderly. The vote in the entire district was not anything like as big as was first thought. This is accounted for by the fact that hundreds of young men, most of whom would have cast their ballots for Carlin, are now overseas and many are in the cantonments in various parts of the country having responded to the call to the colors.

According to reports here many Republicans throughout the district rallied to the support of Mr. White.

Despite the almost united support of the Republicans and the other supporters of White who were not Republicans they failed to make a serious dent in the Carlin vote and despite the fact that hundreds of young men are now away from this district, as previously stated, the run made by Carlin showed unusual strength in practically every county in the district.

The voters simply did not want to swap horses in the middle of the stream and they realize the ability of Representative Carlin in Congress from this district and the splendid work he has done.

The primary is equivalent to an election. This, therefore, will be Mr. Carlin's sixth term in the House.

Mr. Bain says he wants every member, new and old, to be present, as well as all who desire to become members. He will be on hand to sign them up.

BARRETT AT BANQUET

The third annual banquet of the Armour organzation was held July 5 at Buenos Aires and Robert S. Barrett, former editor of this paper and Commercial Attache at Buenos Aires, Argentine Republic, was one of the princial speakers.

An account of he affair contained in "The River Plate Observer" says: Hanford E. Finney, toastmaster, welcomed the guests and paid a high tribute to Robert S. Barrett, United States Commercial Attache whom he introduced as a former newspaper man and a Southerner from a state which had produced some of the greatest men in all walks of life in the United States.

Mr. Barrett's speech was stirring, inspiring. He said that he rejoiced in being a son of the grand old state of Virginia, but that he rejoiced still more, at the present time, in being an American. No prouder title could be borne by any man. That, indeed, was an inspiring occasion. He felt himself surrounded by some of the best men of the American colony in Argentina. In such company he could not be anything but proud of his country and of his compatriots. The United States were facing one of the most momentous periods in their history. The liberty of the world and the preservation of their own freedom, home and country depended on their boys who were fighting side by side with their blood brothers of England, and their heart brothers of France, for Liberty.

They could not all be with them. There was always someone who must stay behind, keeping the home fires burning. The work in which the Americans in Argentina were engaged would bring with it neither honor nor glory. But there were other trenches besides those in France and of all the trenches he knew of outside the battle ground there were none more important than those which a band of his fellow countrymen were digging in the Argentine Republic.

It was for the occupants of those trenches to strive in order that the boys in France might not want for the necessities of life which would help them in their struggle for victory.

The importance of food production could not be exaggerated. The men present who were carrying out their part of the war would receive neither honor nor glory. On returning to the United States they would be received with neither cheers, applause nor brass bands. The curious person anxious to know what part Mr. Finney had played in the world war would learn that he had been Commander-in-Chief of the "novillos squad." Mr. Gresham's exploits in the field of Flanders would be confined to the command of the pig company. Mr. Campbell's name would be recorded as that of the leader of the hide brigade. Such as they would not be thanked by the unthinking populace. But by the less short-sighted their role would be asserted at its true value and they would be credited with having done their best for the great cause. The war could not be won without overseas trade. The dollars won in foreign lands would help carry the burden of expnditure and without such means he financing of the war would be impossible. So every man striving for the development and growth of American commercial interests in Argentina was, in reality, serving his country equally well as though he were shouldering the musket and patrolling the trenches of France.

Regarding the final outcome of the struggle there was no possible doubt. Theirs was a just cause and they were a united people both at home and abroad. Victory must be theirs. In conclusion, therefore, he proposed the heartfelt toast, "America! First, Last and All the Time."

LETTING WELL ENOUGH ALONE.

The election of Hon. C. C. Carlin at the democratic primary yesterday was a foregone conclusion. It was merely a question of majority, and by the time all the returns shall have been received the present Congressional incumbent will doubtless show a lead of approximately three thousand over E. B. White, his chief opponent. Mr. Hanes, a Washington lawyer, who resides in Herndon, Fairfax county, was a dimunitive side show in the triangular contest. He received 13 votes in Alexandria. Mr. White posed as the farmer's candidate; Mr. Hanes as an enemy of the democratic organization of the state. This seems to have embraced his principal capital.

Mr. White posed as the friend of the voters in the agricultural section of the Eighth District. This element seemed to realize the fact that they have had for years a representative capable and anxious to take care of their interests. A large majority, therefore, declined the services of E. B. White.

"What I know about farming" was the slogan of Horace Greeley when he was the competitor of the late Sunset Cox for Congress many years ago. It failed to appeal to a large majority of suffragans, and Mr. Cox was elected. Greeley kept the same flag up when he ran for President in 1872. It hung limp and motionless at that time. Mr. White's banner did not appeal to the mass of suffragans in this district.

The Loudoun county candidate received 251 votes in Alexandria. It was known several days before the elecion that he would not poll 300.

The friends of Mr. Carlin throughout the entire district are jubilant over the result. Those in Alexandria are especially so, and it but natural they should be.

Letting well enough alone is a cry which has spread not only over Virginia, but voters in other sections of the country are acting under the same impulse. It, however, failed to influence some in Mr. Carlin's district. They remained obdurate until the announcement of the vote at midnight last night when they were made to realize that their candidate was a badly defeated man.

The injunction, credited to Abraham Lincoln, "don't swap horses while crossing a stream," is being heeded in other parts of the United States at this critical period in the nation's history.

In deciding not to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the First Maryland district, State Senator Omar D. Crothers regards the spirit of President Wilson's announcement that politics is adjourned.

It is believed that his example will be followed by Mr. Loden in the Fourth district. Congressman Linthicum, his opponent, has been a faithful suporter of the war and of President Wilson.

At this time there should be only one issue in our national politics. That is loyalty. The man who has proved his loyalty in office has an advantage over any other claimant for his office. The official who has been tried and proved should be continued in office if he wants to be continued there.

THE PLIGHT OF GERMANY.

Beaten back to the Vesle river and presenting a shaking front at numerous other points on the great west line, Germany must soon make a reckoning to her people. That the nation is in no condition to start a successful offensive action anywhere now is the conviction everywhere. The British are stronger than in many months. The Americans and French are demonstrating their increasingly great effectiveness. Hence it would appear that Germany's best play would be to settle down again to defensive warfare and try to gain peace before the great battle of the allies—the action which is to be launched later to gain a decisive victory over the Huns.

Desertion from the military and naval forces is rampant in Germany. Soldiers are quitting the army by the score at the first opportunity that presents itself, according to stories in the German newspapers. The government has issued proclamations warning the public and the army that it will take stern measures to prevent further desertions.

Documents of the most significant character, indicating that recent events have brought about an extremely marked state of depression in the German army, have fallen into the hands of the British. Most significant of all perhaps is an extract from a German officer's diary in which he relates he had been asked by the divisional headquarters whether the troops in the line favored peace or a continuation of the war, his answer being:

"Immediate peace or an immediate decisive battle."

THE PREVAILING HOT WAVE.

The weather since last Sunday has not only been the hottest of the present summer, but it exceeds that of any since 1881. The mercury yesterday went as high as 114 degrees, and outdoor occupations were rendered dangerous. At the close of yesterday the mercury stood at 101.

Conditions last night were most trying. Sleep with many was impossible. Perspiration stood in beads upon those who managed to doze for a few moments, while cross children tossed and fretted until daybreak. There were no breezes to refresh man or beast, the leaves upon trees being as motionless as those in pictures.

There were no cases of prostration hereabouts, so far as can be learned. In other sections, however, there was much distress.

The highest temperature ever recorded for August in many cities, aggravated by great humidity, caused intense suffering throughout the country.

Prostrations and deaths from the heat were many. There was much distress among the poor and especially among infants in the larger cities, as milk and other foods spoiled rapidly.

The Washington Post, which probably has the largest circulation in Virginia of any newspaper published without the State, apparently has a corps of correspondents in the Eighth district of Virginia who keep well informed on the trend of political affairs in this State. The Post's predictions on Sunday and Monday, which brought down maledictions upon the heads of the publishers of that conservative and reliable publication from the subsidized White press, were fulfilled almost to the letter in yesterday's Democratic primary. Mr. Carlin was at one time on the reportorial staff of the Post and the editors of that paper have watched with pride his rise in the political world. Their interest in him shows that he has fulfilled their wishes for his success.

We hope that the editor of the White organ published at Rosslyn, Va., will not discharge his correspondents in this city and the several counties of the Eighth District. They may be young men who will live long enough to get a firmer grip on the public pulse in this section.

There was never a time in the history of the world that muck-raking and mud-slinging did not react to the detriment of the muck-raker and the mud-slinger and when the employment of spies and spotters in an effort to blast the character of an opponent did not act as a boomerang with he employer at the return end.

TRANSPORTING AND STORING WHISKY.

For some time members of the police force have had their attention directed to a colored woman named Nellie Dudley, residing in an alley on Queen street, between Royal and Pitt street, it being generally believed that liquor was being dispensed by the woman. The house has been searched at times, but no evidence could be secured. This afternoon, however, Sergeant Scott and Officer Reed saw a young colored woman named Martha Whitsett, bearing a satchel, proceed to the place, and entering a few minutes later the officers found that the Dudley woman had taken possession of the receptacle. The officers secured the satchel and upon opening it found it contained about two gallons of bottled whisky. They placed both women under arrest, charging one with transporting and the other with storing liquor, in violation of the Mapp law. They were arraigned a few minutes later. The woman who had transported the liquor pretended ignorance of the contents of the satchel. Both were held for the action of the grand jury.

HUNS FEAR FOR TRADE.

Bremen Business Man Proposes Britain Supply Raw Materials For Two Years.

Amsterdam, Aug. 7.—Panic has seized the German commercial world with regard to conditions after the war. The Germans fear that whether or not they are victorious, their business will never again be what it was before 1914.

Dr. Lohmann, president of the Bremen Cotton Exchange, proposes in the Government newspaper, the North German Gazette, that Germany should reply to the Allies' threatened "raw materials war" with the following "demands:"

1. Germany shall receive from the raw materials purchased by the British Government (presumably for reconstruction purposes) a quantity sufficient to supply German industries for one to two years after the signing of peace.

2. Germany shall have restored to her as much as may be left of the tonnage taken away from her in violation of international law or receive compensation therefore in kind. In addition, Germany shall have placed at her disposal sufficient tonnage to bring the above mentioned raw materials to her ports.

3. Germany demands that the resolutions of the Allies' Paris economic conference shall not be enforced. If they are enforced the Germanic powers must close their markets to the raw materials or manufactured products of the British colonies.

GERMANS ON THE OFFENSIVE

Overrun British Advanced Positions In First Onrush.

London, Aug. 7.—The Germans early yesterday took the offensive east of Amiens and in their first onrush overran the British advanced poitions, Field Marshal Haig reports in his night bulletin.

Summary of the official night report says: "The enemy attacked our positions south of Merlancourt, astride the Bray-Corbie road, and captured our advanced trenches. Fighting continues."

The statement records a British advance of 2,000 yards in Pacaut Wood, some prisoners being taken.

Berlin, via London, Aug. 7.—"Wurtemburg troops stormed the English front lines astride the Bray-Corbie road (east of Amiens), taking 100 prisoners," says yesterday's war office statement, covering operations on the British front.

With the Americans at the Vesle, Aug. 7.—American patrols were active yesterday north of the Vesle, reconnoitering the German positions and stamping out enemy machine gun nests.

We have not crossed the stream in force so far, however.

Long range Krupp guns on the heights north of the Vesle and beyond the Aisne are heavily shelling our back areas.

IRELAND FOR ALLIES.

Ardent Nationalist Urges Irish Fighting Men to Enlist.

London, Aug. 7.—The enthusiasm for the allied cause which is rising in Ireland, even among some of those who have been the most energetic champions of Irish nationalism, is indicated in a stirring message from Col. Arthur Lynch, a nationalist member of Parliament.

"The western front," he says, "is the crucible on whichrm rom rom ro the crucible in which the future of the world is being shaped. How can a young man keep himself away from that land of adventure—that land that day by day storms the hearts with stirring stories of heroic deeds; who is so slow as not to feel the fascination of all this! What has become of the boasted ardor of our Irish young men? We know the story of wrongs and resentments and hope deceived, but all these considerations are dwarfted by the great events that are now molding the destinies of the world and of course, of our own country.

This utterance is all the more notable since Col. Lynch has always been a home ruler of the most advanced type. During the South African war he was in command of an Irish brigade fighting on the side of the Boers.

FIND $23,000 BANK MONEY.

Hollow Concrete Brick in Janitor's House Contains Bills Stolen Last May.

On the charge of stealing $36,000 from the Franklin National Bank, Pennsylvania avenue and Tenth street northwest, Washington, James "Stovie" Moore, colored janitor, 27 years old, 1818 L street northwest, is under arrest at police headquarters today. Last night detectives found $23,000 in a hollow brick at the negro's home. He denies stealing the money, asserting that he found it in a sewer trap in the basement of the building.

SPAIN IS INDIGNANT.

Acts of German Submarines Cause Resentment Among Castilians.

Paris, Aug. 7.—The indignation in Spain over muzzling of the press to prevent outbreaks of criticism on the sinking of Sanish ships by German submarines has reached a point where it may cause a Government crisis.

La Publicidad, of Barcelona, a popular party journal and always of moderate tone, bitterly laments that the right of expressing indignation against acts committed by Germany at sea has been denied to Spaniards.

In the interior, where spying, sabotage and underhanded propaganda flourish, the liberal press severely criticizes the espionage law on the ground that in the absence of the strong light which the papers threw on Germany's murderous acts against neutral shipping they will continue those acts in greater boldness than before.

The French newspapers regret that the able Premier of Spain should permit legislation of such a nature to alienate the support of so large a section of the press.

Of the 8,005 votes counted in the election in Richmond yesterday, 6,141 weer cast to abolish the Administrative Board, the remainng 1,864 being against the adoption of the charter amendments.

Owing to labor conditions it has become necessary during the extreme hot weather we are now experiencing to appeal to those who have conveyances to assist us by purchasing ICE at our plant, thereby releasing to those who have no means to convey ICE, or are unable to do so, such equipment as we are able to operate with our limited labor supply.
There is no shortage of ICE in Alexandria, as we have an abundant supply, but our service is below the standard owing to labor conditions, and we earnestly request the co-operation of the Public that as little inconvenience as possible may be felt by the citizens of Alexandria in general.

Better Cooking by Electricity

Women have long known that electric cooking is cleaner, that it banishes all the dust and ashes of coal and wood and soot and fumes of gas. They have known that it makes the kitchen cooler; the air purer; that is the most convenient way to cook. Now they have the word of the women who stand for the most scientific cooking methods known, that electric cooking produces better results than any other means.

Let us demonstrate the various sizes of ranges and refer you to the satisfied electric range users.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The State Department yesterday received an explanation of the recently reported attack on the United States consulate at Tabriz, Turkey, which will serve to end the incident(it is thought. The Turkish government admitted the consulate had been entered and some of the furnishings removed. It is claimed, however, the building was vacant at the time and the intruders were irresponsible persons. The furnishings have been recovered and replaced. The report was received through the Swedish charge d'affaires at Constantinople through whom the protest was made.

The German Hun refuses to be out-Hunned. He is now buying and selling girls in Germany. Following on the heels of dispatches stating that the food shortage in Constantinople has livened up the market in Christian Armenian and Syrian girl slaves of the Turks, comes this advertisement clipped from the Brunswick Volksfreund: "Twelve girl asparagus cutters, employed on the Salgenhof estate, near Wipshausen, to be disposed of on moderate terms. For particulars address V. N., Railway Station Postoffice Meinersen."

An attempted suffrage demonstration opposite the White House yesterday afternoon was broken up by the United States park police, which is under the command of Col. Clarence Ridley, military aid to the President. Former arrests of picketing suffragists have all been made by the District police. Forty-eight arrests were made and the women were taken to detective headquarters in police patrols. As soon as their names could be taken and bail arranged all were released. The hearing was set for 9 o'clock today in Police Court, United States branch.

Speaking in the British House of Commons yesterday, Lord Robert Cecil, assistant secretary of state for foreign affairs, stated that the Germans had levied war contributions to a total of $405,000,000 on Belgium, besides enormous fines on localities, firms and individuals. These "monstrous exactions," he said, certainly must be taken into account when peace terms are being arranged.

OF WHAT ARE WE THINKING?

By George Barr McCutcheon of The Vigilantes.

What is in the mind of the American citizen while "The Star Spangled Banner" is being layed?

Of what are we thinking?

Are we thinking of the flag and all that it sands for, or are our minds otherwise engaged?

Of course, it is reasonably certain that we are thinking of something, but have our thoughts the slightest connection with the message our flag is carrying to the enemy?

We obediently arise with the first sonorous note of the anthem and we remain standing till the end. We have learned, or we are learning to "face the music" more or less at attention, and we are developing the conviction that it is an offence to chatter while the strains of our war-song, perhaps our death-song, fill our ears. But are we thinking of "The Star Spangled Banner"?

Or are we silently urging the musicians to hurry up and be done with it so that we may resume an interrupted occupation? Are we impatiently waiting to take up a broken conversation; a game of bridge; the telling of a story; the reading of a newspaper; he liberal art of criticizing the War Department, the Navy or the Administration ;or, what is infinitely more incompatible, exploiting the hateful efficiency of the foe?

We sit in public places, and we arise because we are in public places: We suspend for the moment our physical interests, and we look about us to see if other people are doing the same? Some of us get up grudgingly and sand as we happen to have been sitting, with our backs to the music; some of us go on knitting; others of us continue to keep our hands in our pockets and our cigars in our mouths; others think that nothing more is required of them than the lowering of the voice to an undertone; others consider a bland expression of reisgnation to be efficient; and some fall into an attitude of tolerant submissiveness. There is little or no evidence of exaltation, no sign of an inward thrill, no suggestion of a profound emotion. The beautiful, inspiring concentraion of thought that attends the "Marseillaise" is lacking; the full-heard sensation that glorifies "Rule Britannia" is absent; even the fervor of the Teuton as symbolized in guttural acclaim is sadly wanting. We, the most imaginative, the most alert people in he world, are totally devoid of imagination during the rendition of our war-song.

exhnTiuor morm rom rm r mr nrr

Why should we not think, or even pray, as the French, the English and he Germans think and pray while their song of hope is being sounded?

"The Star Spangled Banner" is our battle-song. It goes into the thick of the fight with our flag and our boys. It emphasizes our hopes, our aims, our longings; and of what are we thinking,—we who stay at home,—while its strains are falling upon uor ears? Are we, so to speak, playing the game?

Why shouldn't we, one and all, great and small, think aline for as long as five minutes in each day? Let there be but one thought, one prayer, while the hymn is ringing. From one end of this great land to the other let this be the beginning of our prayer the instant the band strikes up "The Star Spangled Banner."

"God be with our flag and our soldiers and our arms wherever they may be!"

And let this be the end of our devout, intensified prayer as the last note dies away:

"God give us Victory!"

Not perfunctorily, not as a matter of duty, but with our hearts in it, our nerves aquiver, our eyes glowing with the fire of enthusiasm.

One thought, one prayer in a hundred million minds!

Every heart full, every mind intent as we face the enemy! For, after all, this Star Spangled Banner of ours is facing the foe in a far-off land, and there is no other direction in which we may look.

Our men go with the banner to the music of guns; we stand at home and face, not the guns, but a group of fiddlers! Our thoughts, our prayers, nevertheless should be the same as theirs. Our silent prayer, however brief, should be for Victory. Let us always utter it, one and all, while "The Star Spangled Banner" is being played.

"God give us Victory!"

CALL AMERICANS SATANS.

And Capture by Germans Brings The Iron Cross.

Amsterdam, Aug. 7.—"Satans" is the pet name for American soldiers among the men in the German army, according to a letter written by Lieutenant Ranke, who, as "officer-war correspondent," writes for German papers stories of individual deeds of bravery by Germans whose names, addresses and occupations are given as tending to encourage local patriotism.

In a letter to the Dusseldorf Nachrichten he tells of a skirmish between a patrol of men from that city with an American patrol, who by their "impudent audacity" had been giving the Germans much trouble. Both parties were hidden in shell craters, he says, and stalked each other for 19 hours, with the result, according to the story, that three wounded American "Satans' were brought in. For their work their captors received iron crosses.

CHOLERA IN PETROGRAD.

More Than 20,000 Cases And 1,100 Deaths According to Reports Reaching City of Hamburg.

Amsterdam, Aug. 7.—There are more than 20,000 cases of cholera in Petrograd, according to the Fremdenblatt, of Hamburg, which reports that up to last Saturday 1,100 deaths had occurred. The authorities, it declares, are helpless, and the disease is spreading unchecked.

VIRGINIA NEWS

At a late hour last night Senator C. O'Conor Goolrick conceded his defeat in his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Congress, declaring that indications pointed to the nomination of Senator Mapp by a substantial plurality. Senator Goolrick conceded his defeat when he ascertained that the anti-Mapp vote on the Northern Neck had finally swung to Mr. Bland.

The first conviction in Rockingham county under the new "work or go to jail" law, was secured before Mayor Downing in Harrisonburg Monday when he sentenced James Barton to ten days at hard labor and to pay a fine of $2.50. Chief Dovel had repeatedly warned Barton that he must either go to work or go to jail, but the man, who is just past 21 years of age, refused to do the former, so the chief thought he would give him a dose of the latter. The man was immedintely placed at work for the city, being given the task of helping on the street cleaning wagon. Barton is a son of John Barton, who took a shot at Sheriff Croushorn when the latter went to his home west of Harrisonburg to arrest him. A WORD WITH WOMEN

Valuable Advice for Alexandria Readers.

Many a woman endures with noble patience the daily misery of backache, pains about the hips, blue, nervous spells, dizziness and urinary disorders, hopeless of relief because she doesn't know what is the matter.

It is not true that every pain in the back or hips is trouble "peculiar to the sex." Often when the kidneys get congested and inflamed, such aches and pains follow. Then help the weakened kidneys. Don't expect them to get well alone.

Doan's Kidney Pills have won the praise of thousands of women. They are endorsed at home—Read this Alexandria woman's convincing statement:

Mrs. Milton Moor, 123 Duke street, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are a household medicine for kidney trouble in our family. I have taken them on several occasions for backache and other kidney disorders with very beneficial results. I am quite sure Doan's will help anybody who gives them a good trial. I know they are a medicine of merit."

"A SPLENDID TONIC"

Hixson, Tenn.—"About 10 years ago I was..." says Mrs. J. B. Gadd, of this place. "I suffered with a pain in my left side, could not sleep at night with this pain, always in the left side...

My doctor told me to use Cardui. I took one bottle, which helped me and after my baby came, I was stronger and better, but the pain was still there.

I at first let it go but began to get weak and in poor condition, so I decided to try more Cardui, which I did.

This last Cardui which I took made me much better, in fact, cured me. It has been a number of years, still I have no return of this trouble.

I feel it was Cardui that cured me, and I recommend it as a splendid female tonic."

Don't allow yourself to become weak and run-down from womanly troubles. Take Cardui. It should surely help you, as it has so many thousands of other women in the past 40 years. Headache, backache, sideache, nervousness, sleeplessness, tired-out feeling, are all signs of womanly trouble. Other women get relief by taking Cardui. Why not? All druggists. NC-138

Your Winter's Coal Supply

On account of rulings of the U. S. Fuel Administration, it seems doubtful if Virginia will receive sufficient anthracite coal to supply the demands. If present rulings are maintained, this shortage will be very great in Alexandria and we earnestly advise our customers to put in a reasonable amount of bituminous coal as a safeguard against a coal shortage next winter.

We are now securing some very fine bituminous coal which we believe will work in all characters of coal burners but the Latrobe stoves.
